

Green Horizon

Company brochure

Growing the horizon of Colombian agriculture.

Export-grade foliage, Tommy mangoes, fresh fish and Brahman cattle, from the mountains of Cundinamarca, Colombia.

Our story

An old hacienda, a new promise

Once there was a great hacienda in the mountains of Cachipay. Time divided it into three farms, and one of them kept the name and the promise: El Horizonte. That is where Green Horizon comes from.

A horizon is never reached; it is pursued. Like the one you see from the shore, vast and endless, always a little further away. That is how we see Colombian agriculture: a story that is only beginning.

Here, water springs from our own land and flows by gravity to every crop. Every leaf is cut, chosen and inspected by hand before it leaves. Freshness is not a sales pitch: it is how we work.

Green Horizon. The future of agriculture, grown today.

2
farms, two climates

13,500
palms in production

20,000
plants in our nursery

150
mango trees

7
spring-fed lakes

Two climates, the same care

We run two farms in Cundinamarca. Each crop grows where it does best.

Finca El Horizonte

Cachipay, Cundinamarca, Colombia. Temperate climate.

Pygmy date palm, ginger, red cordyline, mangoes, lakes of red tilapia and cachama, and pasture for cattle.

Finca El Mirador

Bojacá, Cundinamarca, Colombia. Cool highlands, above 2,600 m.

Baby Blue and Silver Dollar eucalyptus, which need the mountain cold to develop their silver colour.

Spring water

Water rises on the farm and flows by gravity to every crop and every lake.

Graded by hand

Every frond is checked before packing. What doesn't meet the standard doesn't ship.

Freshness

We cut to order and deliver as quickly as possible.

Volume for peak season

Capacity for Valentine's Day, Mother's Day and Christmas.

Our product lines

Export-grade foliage

Pygmy date palm, Baby Blue and Silver Dollar eucalyptus, cut and graded by hand.

Pygmy date palm (rubelina), Baby Blue eucalyptus, Silver Dollar eucalyptus

Tropical foliage and nursery

Red cordyline and ginger for the domestic market, plus palm plants and seeds.

Red cordyline, Red and pink ginger, Palm plants and seeds

Mango and oranges

Tommy mangoes from our own orchard and tangelo oranges all year round, by the crate.

Tommy mango, Tangelo oranges

Fresh fish

Red tilapia and cachama raised in spring-fed lakes.

Red tilapia, Cachama

Brahman cattle

Grass-fed steers on rotational grazing, registered with Fedegán.

Brahman steers

Process and quality

Quality isn’t a promise: it’s a sequence of steps we repeat on every order.

1 Growing

Spring water, gravity irrigation and scheduled plant health care.

2 Cutting

Fronds cut by hand at the right moment.

3 Grading and quality control

We set aside anything that falls short on size, colour or health. Only the best goes through.

4 De-thorning

Clean fronds that are safe to handle.

5 Bunching and shaping

Bunches of 10 fronds, uniform in shape and size.

6 Packing

Protected to stay fresh in transit.

7 Delivery

We arrange pick-up or direct delivery to the client.

Nothing goes to waste

Mangoes that aren’t first grade feed the cattle and the fish, and the water returns to the lakes. The farm works as one system.

Our team

Noé Daniel Arias

Founding partner

Daniel Felipe Arias

General manager: sales, logistics and clients

Alonso

Farm foreman: harvests, livestock and lakes

Verónica

Maintenance and field support

Freddy

Crops and maintenance

Henry and Efraín

Building and infrastructure

Green Horizon

Let’s talk about your next order

We don’t publish prices: we quote by quantity, size and season. Message us and we’ll reply the same day.

WhatsApp
+57 300 640 8246

Email
greenhorizonsas@gmail.com

Web
greenhorizonsas.com

Finca El Horizonte
Cachipay, Cundinamarca, Colombia

Finca El Mirador
Bojacá, Cundinamarca, Colombia

Scan to get a quote on WhatsApp